In this inquiry into the identity of Jane New, the evidence tendered by John Stephen, jr., was largely a repetition of the details contained in the papers enclosed with Governor Darling's despatch dated 29th June, 1829, and Sir George Murray's despatch dated 12th August, 1830 (see pages 33 et seq. and 678 et seq., volume XY). The printed pamphlet was a Reply to Major-General Darling's "Statement in Refutation of Accusations made by Mr. Hume, M.P., and Others against Lieut.-General Darling, Governor of New South Wales," by John Stephen, jun., printed at London in 1832. It was an octavo pamphlet containing thirty-eight pages. Governor Darling's statement will be found on page 851 et seq., volume XV.

These returns have been omitted as they were included in the annual returns printed in the Votes and Proceedings of the Legislative Council.

Kenneth Snodgrass was a member of the executive council, a member of the legislative council and major of brigade.

This was the second statute passed for the administration of justice at Norfolk island, the first being 34 Geo. IV, c. xlv, passed on the 9th of May, 1794 (see page 24 et seq., volume I, series IV). By this last statute, a criminal court had been established for the trial of offenders on the island. When Norfolk island was evacuated in 1814, this court lapsed and was not revived on the re-occupation of the island in 1825.

The appropriation act was 5 Wm. IV, No. 5. The protests and the list of ships will be found in the Votes and Proceedings of the Legislative Council. A copy of the account of the land revenues is not available.

This meeting was held at the court-house with J. Mackaness in the chair, when the following resolutions were proposed and carried:

"That it is the opinion of this meeting that the proceeds, derived from the lands of the colony whether by sale, lease, or other reservations of quit-rents on grants, are part of the public revenue" (moved by W. C. Wentworth and seconded by R. Johnstone).
"That this principle is not only founded in equity, but has always been sanctioned by the British Government until the adoption of the new regulations, whereby it was settled that all the land in the Colony should for the future be sold; and that, even upon the promulgation of these regulations, it was distinctly understood by the Colonists that the funds raised by the sale of lands should be applied for the benefit of the Colony; and the Colonists were induced, by the pledge of the Secretary of State that the whole of such funds should be appropriated in promoting the emigration of free and useful labourers and mechanics and young females of good character, to acquiesce in a measure which was generally considered injurious to the interests of the Colony" (moved by Revd. R. Mansfield and seconded by G. Forbes).

"That this meeting views with surprise and alarm the late direction of the Secretary of State to divert a portion of these funds, under the novel denomination (at least in the Colony) of Droits of the Crown, to the payment of a pension which the same authority has admitted cannot be justly saddled upon the Colony" (moved by W. Lawson and seconded by W. Bland).

"That such appropriation is illegal, being confessedly in contravention of the express words of the Act of Parliament, commonly called the New South Wales Act; it is unjust upon any plea, inasmuch as the revenue of the colony raised from other sources more than defrays all the expenses of the colonial government properly so called, and these are ample" (moved by R. Hipkiss and seconded by W. Howe).

"That it was the bounden duty of the colonists to resist this attempt by all constitutional means, and that this meeting pledges itself so to do" (moved by W. Williams and seconded by J. Chisholm).

"That, while this meeting considers the appropriation of this branch of the revenue under the direction of the Secretary of State as a matter of paramount importance, it also feels bound to observe that the estimates generally are extravagant in their amount; that many salaries of the public officers are utterly disproportioned to the duties which they are to perform; that many offices are wholly unnecessary to the public service; and that by these means large sums are diverted from the true objects to which they ought, in justice to the interests of the colony, to be applied" (moved by F. Stephen and seconded by J. B. Bettington).

The representation.

This "representation" was contained in a despatch to the hon. J. Stewart, dated 20th January, 1834 (see pages 342 and 343).

Note 130, page 506.

A specific provision.

By section V of the statute 4 Geo. 1Y, c. xevi, it was provided: "That it shall be lawful for His Majesty, His Heirs and Successors, by his or their Instruction under His or their Royal Sign Manual, at any Time hereafter to authorize the Governor or Acting Governor of New South Wales for the Time being to convene a Court or Courts, as often as Occasion may require, to the Trial of all Crimes and Misdemeanors committed within any Place or Places in New South Wales or Van Diemen's Land, or the Dependencies thereof, which, by any Order in Council to be for that purpose issued as after mentioned, shall be appointed for the Reception of transported Felons and other Offenders; which Court or Courts shall be of Record, and shall have and exercise all the Powers and Authorities incident and belonging to a Court of Record, and shall consist respectively of a Judge to be appointed by His Majesty, His Heirs and Successors, and such and so many proper Persons, not fewer than Three nor more than Five, as shall be appointed for such Purpose by Such Governor or Acting Governor by Commission to be duly made and executed under His Hand and Seal."

A similar provision was included in the statute, 9 Geo. IV, c. lxxxiii.

Note 131, page 514.

These letters.

The contents of these letters will be found in lord Glenelg's despatch in reply dated 3rd July, 1835 (see volume XVIII).

Note 132, pages 520 and 533.

Resolutions of adherence.—22d Section.

These resolutions were printed in the Votes and Proceedings of the Legislative Council, dated 26th August, 1834, and were as follows:—"Resolved unanimously, upon a review of such representation, and of the said Law or Ordinance, that Council do adhere to the same."

By the 22nd section of the statute, 9 Geo. IV, c. lxxxiii, it was provided that every act should within seven days from its date be transmitted to the supreme court for enrolment. The judges were then allowed a further period of seven days within which to represent to the governor any objection entertained on the ground of its supposed repugnancy to the law of England. Such an objection was then considered by the legislative council; but, if the council adhered to the act, such act had full effect until the royal pleasure was known.

Note 133, pages 520 and 521.

The most important feature.—The preamble.

This "feature" was contained in the 1st section which was quoted in extenso by W. W. Burton (see page 524). The preamble to the first bush-ranging act, 11 Geo. IV, No. 10, was as follows:—"Whereas the crimes of Robbery and Housebreaking have increased to an alarming degree, and it is become necessary to restrain the same as much as possible by temporary provision suited to the emergency of the occasion."

Note 134, pages 522 and 537.

The case.—My Letter.

The judgment by W. W. Burton in the case of Macdonald v. Levy and the letter will be found in the Votes and Proceedings of the Legislative Council.

Note 135, page 523.

This being the last day allowed.

The acts of council 5 Wm. IV, Nos. 9 and 10, were passed on the 5th of August, 1834. Seven days were allowed for their enrolment in the supreme court and a further seven days for a protest by a judge. Thus the 19th of August was the "last day."

Note 136, page 541.

Two petitions.

These petitions were from settlers in the district of Hunter river and from those in the districts of Newcastle and Port Stephens. They were printed in the Votes and Proceedings of the Legislative Council.
This was an octavo pamphlet of thirty-seven pages, printed by Anne Howe, 1834, and entitled, Observations on the "Holt and Corner Petition" in a Letter to the Right Honorable Edward G. Stanley, principal secretary of state for the Colonial Department, by an unpaid Magistrate.

A pamphlet.—A copy.

This pamphlet was entitled Vindication of James Mudie and John Larnach from certain reflections on their conduct, contained in letters addressed to them respectively, through the Colonial Secretary of New South Wales, by order of His Excellency Governor Bourke, relative to the treatment by them of their Convict Servants; together with the minutes of evidence taken before two Commissioners of Enquiry, appointed by His Excellency to investigate the conduct of the Bench of Magistrates at Patrick’s Plains towards prisoners of the Crown, and also that of Messrs. Mudie and Larnach, assignees of prisoners. This pamphlet contained one hundred and thirty-nine pages octavo, and was printed by E. S. Hall at Sydney in 1834. The letter from the colonial secretary and the depositions were included in the pamphlet.

The Contractor.

In the year 1834, the contract for printing the Government Gazette and official documents was held by W. Jones of Bridge-street, Sydney, where he carried on business as a "letterpress and copper-plate printer."

The Govt. notice.

A copy of this notice will be found in note 116, volume XVI.

The disabilities.

These disabilities were noted by Governor Bourke in his despatch dated 20th November, 1832 (see pages 804 and 805, volume XVI), and were discussed by the right hon. E. G. Stanley in his despatch dated 4th September, 1831 (see page 210).

His infirmities.

Governor Bourke reported the deafness of John Kinchela in his despatch, dated 19th September, 1832 (see page 746, volume XVI).

The Colonial Gazette.

The despatches from G. R. Lambert and Edward Johnstone were dated 1st November and 31st October, 1834, and contained reports on the expedition. H.M. ship Alligator and the schooner Isabella arrived off the coast of New Zealand on the 12th of September. The rescue was delayed by heavy weather. Negotiations were first opened with the Maoris at "Nummo," when it was ascertained that Mrs. Guard and her children had been removed to "Wyamati" in the district of "Taranachte," and that the natives refused to surrender the captives without a ransom. On arrival at "Mattaroa" on the 20th, the crew of the Harriet were demanded and immediately given up. On the 25th at "Nummo," the Maoris refused to surrender Mrs. Guard and her children. Accordingly, on the 28th, captain Johnstone and thirty soldiers and marines landed and attacked and destroyed the Maori pah, and captured the chief; but Mrs. Guard and children had been removed. She and the youngest child were exchanged three days later for the chief. The eldest child was not recovered until the 8th of October, after the bombardment, capture and destruction of two more pahs. There were many casualties amongst the Maoris, but none amongst the military and marines.

A copy.

Reports by P. L. Campbell and C. Forbes on obtaining the copy for Governor Bourke will be found on pages 654 and 655.

Note 145, page 604.
The Petitions.

These were petitions from settlers at Hunter river and at Newcastle and Port Stephens, which were printed in the Votes and Proceedings of the Legislative Council for the 22nd of August, 1833.

Note 146, page 604.
A Copy.—Replies.

The circular letter from the colonial secretary and the replies by the magistrates were printed in the Votes and Proceedings of the Legislative Council for the 8th of April, 1834.

Note 147, page 606.
Returns.—Census Returns.

The returns of convictions will be found in a volume in series IV. A summary of the census returns for 1828 will be found on page 376, volume XV, and of those for 1833 in note 85.

Note 148, pages 622 and 640.
The dates.—The Duplicate.

In the transmission of the despatches from the colony, the original and duplicate copies were sent by separate ships. Sometimes the duplicate despatch was received before the original, and this was frequently the copy filed for reference, and now preserved in the record office, London. The result is that no complete set of the originals or of the duplicates is preserved in one office. The errors of the clerk in copying the duplicate, as mentioned in the despatch on page 622, explain the not uncommon acknowledgment of a despatch under a different date to the available copy of the despatch.

Note 149, page 627.
Three of them.

These were the great south road which extended one hundred and ninety miles to Corwarey on the Shoalhaven river, about twelve miles below its source; the great western road which extended two hundred and thirty-one and a half miles to Wellington valley; and the great northern road which extended one hundred and ninety-eight miles to the commencement of Liverpool plains.
The third bank was the Commercial Banking company of Sydney. The preliminary public meeting for the formation of this bank was held at the Pulteney Hotel, Sydney, on the 12th of September, 1834. This meeting was summoned by an advertisement signed by Leslie Duguid as "interim secretary." The advertisement commenced with the statement, "it is proposed to institute an additional Discount Bank in Sydney, to be conducted on the principle of the Scotch Banks, and, with a view of affording to the Community at large greater facility in the transaction of money matters, to Discount at least three times a week." Comment was made on the practice of the existing banks discounting only one day a week and on the high premiums on their shares. It was considered that a company of twelve hundred shares of £100 each was sufficient; but, as the shares had been already subscribed, the meeting was called to consider the advisability of extending the shares to fifteen hundred.

The meeting was largely attended and was presided over by W. Macpherson. The most important proposal was made by Thomas Burdekin, when the capital was fixed at £300,000, divided into three thousand shares. It was expected that the calls per share would be £10, and possibly not more than £7 10s. It was decided that 5 per cent. interest should be paid on fixed deposits for three months, and 2½ per cent. on current accounts.

The deed of settlement of the proprietors was ready for signature on the 1st of November, and premises for the bank were secured at No. 1 Colonnade, Bridge-street, Sydney.

The first directors were W. Macpherson, chairman; J. Lamb, deputy chairman; T. Barker; R. Scott; R. Johnson; T. Marsden; R. Howe; F. A. Hely; J. T. Goodsir; J. H. Grose; R. Therry; and T. P. Macqueen. Leslie Duguid was appointed managing director and cashier.

The fourth bank was the Bank of Australasia, of which an abridged prospectus was published by J. Barrow Montefiore and Co., acting for the directors, in August, 1834. In this prospectus, it was announced that the company was incorporated by royal charter for the purpose of establishing banks of issue and deposit in Australasian settlements. The capital was fixed at five thousand shares of £40 each, five hundred of which were to be reserved for allotment in the colonies. It was to be controlled by a board of twelve directors in London. By advertisement dated 1st November, 1834, it was announced that W. Hayward, R. Campbell, Jr., W. Dawes and J. Barrow Montefiore had been appointed local directors, and that applications for shares should be made to the last named director at O'Connell-street, Sydney. Of the five hundred colonial shares, three hundred were reserved for allotment in New South Wales, and two hundred in Tasmania.

The court-house was in the building now occupied by the supreme court at the corner of King and Elizabeth streets, Sydney, and the site of the new gaol was at Darlinghurst, now occupied as a technical school. The site of the old gaol was at the north-western corner of George and Essex streets.

The lunatic asylum was at Liverpool in a building formerly occupied by the bench of magistrates. The previous asylum had been at Castle Hill (see note 167, volume XIV).

The general order. — A Govt. notice.

The general order, dated 1st August, 1831, will be found in note 116, volume XVI. The notice, dated 6th March, 1832, was as follows: —

"His Excellency the Governor directs it to be notified that His Majesty's Government have revised the system of granting land in the Colonies of North America and Australia, so as to ensure to Officers of the Army, wishing to become settlers, the combined advantages arising from rank and length of service.

"2. In future, therefore, Military Officers, purchasing land according to the Regulation established in the respective Colonies, will, in proportion to their rank and services, be entitled to a remission of purchase money, according to the following graduated scale, on producing testimonials of unexceptionable character from the General Commanding-in-Chief, viz.: —

"Field Officers Of 25 years' service and upwards, in the whole £300
Of 20 years' service and upwards, in the whole 250
Of 15 years' service or less, in the whole .... 200

"Captains Of 20 years' service and upwards, in the whole 200
Of 15 years' service or less, in the whole .... 150

"Subalterns Of 20 years' service and upwards, in the whole 150
Of 7 years' service or less, in the whole .... 100

"3. Officers of His Majesty's Navy and Marines will be entitled to a similar remission according to their relative rank and service."

Note 157, page 647.

The late Dr. Wardell.

On the 8th of September, 1834, R. Wardell was riding on his estate at Petersham, near Sydney, when he found three convict absconders camped at a hut which they had erected on his property. Wardell endeavoured to persuade the convicts to come with him as absconders under arrest, whereupon one of the convicts picked up a gun and shot Wardell mortally in the breast while sitting on his horse. The horse immediately galloped away with the body, which was found later some distance from the hut. Of the three convicts, one turned approver. The other two were arrested and tried before the chief justice and a civil jury on the 7th of November; one was found guilty of wilful murder, and the second as principal in the second degree.

Note 158, page 647.

The margin.

The margin is blank in the copy of this despatch which is available. The murderers of R. Wardell were captured on the 12th of September.
The regulations dated 1st August, 1831, will be found in note 116, volume XVI. The regulations, dated 21st August, 1831, were as follows:—

"The Governor directs it to be notified, with reference to the Government Order of the 1st Instant, No. 22, detailing the 'Land Regulations,' and the Government Notices of the same date, relating to 'Leases' and to 'Lands rented with a view to purchase,' that, in pursuance of the Instructions received from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, His Excellency has taken into consideration, in Council, the subject of the Land purchased under the authority of the late Government, the period within which Arrears of Rent should be required to be paid and the rate of Quit-rent to be charged upon Grants without purchase; and that the following Regulations have been laid down in these cases respectively, viz.:

"Purchases prior to 1826.

"1. Those persons, who obtained permission to purchase land at a credit of three years, under the Regulations dated 5th November, 1823, will be allowed until the 1st of October next to signify their choice of the following modes of settlement, namely:—

"(1) Either to fulfil the original conditions, by immediately completing the payment of the sum of five shillings per acre for the whole quantity of land they agreed to purchase;

"(2) Or to surrender the whole, forfeiting all payments already made;

"(3) Or to complete the purchase, at five shillings per acre of any part of the land now in their occupation, not being less than one square mile, by paying to the Collector of Internal Revenue a deposit of ten per cent. (if not already paid), as soon as their selection is approved; the remainder within one month thereafter; and also rent, as pointed out in paragraph 9, calculated at the rate of sixteen shillings and eight pence per hundred acres per annum, for the whole quantity of land they agreed to purchase, from the date of that agreement until the 31st of July last.

"2. The foregoing election will be open also to those persons, who notified their wish to accept the conditions provisionally offered by the Government Notice of 23rd October, 1828, of paying up one shilling and eight pence, and a yearly quit-rent of two pence per acre; as the instructions received from the Secretary of State do not admit of the arrangement then proposed being carried into effect.

"3. The choice of the three modes of settlement above detailed will likewise be extended to those persons who obtained permission, under the Regulations dated 18th May, 1825, to purchase land at such a valuation as should be afterwards determined by the Commissioners for apportioning and valuing the Territory; the price being now fixed at five shillings per acre.

"In the event of their surrendering the whole of the land, they will be required to pay rent for the intermediate use of it, as pointed out in paragraph 9, at the rate of two-pence per acre per annum, from the date of obtaining possession, until the 31st of July, 1831.

"4. To those persons who, under the regulations of 5th November, 1825, were allowed to occupy lands as New Settlers at a rent of fifteen shillings per hundred acres, for three years previous to their being required to notify their final intention with regard to purchase, the period will, in like manner, be extended to the 1st of October next for intimating their choice of the following terms, viz.:—

"(1) Either to abandon the land, paying up the stipulated rent of fifteen shillings per hundred acres per annum for three years;

"(2) Or to complete the purchase of the whole, at five shillings per acre, by paying immediately to the Collector of Internal Revenue a deposit of ten per cent.; the remainder by instalments as originally stipulated within six years from the date of obtaining possession; and also rent for three years, as specified in paragraph 9, calculated at the yearly rate of fifteen shillings per hundred acres.

"(3) Or to purchase any portion of the land now in their possession, not being less than six hundred and forty acres, at the rate of five shillings per acre, by paying immediately a deposit of ten per cent.; the remainder of the purchase money in one month; and (in this case) rent, as pointed out in paragraph 9, upon the whole quantity originally occupied, from the date of possession until the 31st of July last.

"5. All parties, who are desirous of retaining a portion of the land before held by them under any of the Regulations herein alluded to, will be required to describe the exact boundaries of the particular spot to the Surveyor General with as little delay as possible, in order that he may point out whether the selection be conformable to the established Rules.

"6. In the event of the required notifications not having been made by the 1st of October next, the parties will be considered as having relinquished all intention to purchase, and the lands will be thrown open for sale under the Regulations contained in the Government Order of the 1st instant, No. 22.

"7. In accordance with the original conditions, a quit-rent of two shillings per hundred acres per annum, redeemable at twenty years' purchase, will be reserved upon all lands sold under the Regulations of 5th November, 1823.

"Arrears of Rent on Lands occupied for purchase.

"8. The rent of all lands occupied with a view to purchase, will be calculated at the rate of two-pence per acre, or sixteen shillings and eight-pence per hundred acres per annum, with the exception of those held by New Settlers under the Regulations of 5th November, 1823, which will be calculated at the yearly rate of fifteen shillings per hundred acres, as mentioned in paragraph 4.

"9. Persons, who shall not retain any portion of the land now in their possession, will be required to pay up the whole amount of rent due before the 1st of December next. But those, who may complete the purchase of the whole or any part of the lands now held by them (in the manner pointed out above), will not be required to pay the arrears of rent until the 1st of August, 1832. Should they be unable to pay them up at that time, they will be allowed to discharge the balance remaining due by four quarterly instalments, with Bank interest thereon, entering into security for the same.

"10. The title-deeds of lands purchased from the Crown will not be delivered to the parties until all arrears of rent which may be due thereon are paid up, as well as the purchase money; and if the purchaser fail to pay the rent within the prescribed period, or to give security for the same, to the Collector of Internal Revenue, the land will be sold to the highest bidder, after having been advertised for one month. The amount of rent due will in that case be deducted from the proceeds of the sale, and the overplus, if any, paid over to the proprietor.

"Lands granted on the condition of paying quit-rent.

"11. The quit-rent upon all grants of land, both primary and additional, given since the publication of the King's instructions on 18th May, 1825, has now been fixed at the rate of two pence per acre, or sixteen shillings and eightpence per hundred acres per annum

"12. The same rate will also be charged upon additional grants, from the date of the authority to take possession, instead of the rent of twenty shillings per hundred acres, directed by the Government Order, No. 35 of 5th September, 1826.

"13. Persons desirous of retaining their grants under these conditions will be required to pay up all arrears of rent due to the 31st of July last, at the said yearly rate of two pence per acre, by two equal quarterly instalments.

"14. Any persons, who may not be desirous of retaining the land, will be permitted to surrender it on immediately paying up their arrears of rent, calculated at the same rate.

"15. Their decision must be notified before the 1st of October next.

"All persons interested in any part of the foregoing arrangements are requested to communicate immediately with the Collector of Internal Revenue, who has received instructions to inform them of all further particulars."

In the newspaper.

The "Hole and Corner" petition caused much public discussion, and, in the Sydney Gazette alone, the leaders in the issues dated 1st July, 26th and 28th August, and 11th and 20th September, 1834, were devoted to criticism on it.

The doubt.—The Instructions.—The opinion.

The opinion of chief justice Forbes that the government had no power to order a convict to hard labour in chains will be found on page 331 et seq. The instructions for such punishment were given by the right hon. E. G. Stanley in his despatch dated 21st August, 1833 (see page 197 et seq.).

Lord Glenelg.

The right hon. Charles Grant was created Lord Glenelg after his accession to office as secretary of state for the colonies.

Note 172, page 727.

The Emigrants.

In a second copy of this letter, the following additional paragraph was added:—

"I understand that a certain sum of about £10 will be paid to Mrs. Marsden in consideration of her taking charge as Matron. But I should also hope that his Excellency will be pleased to take her case into consideration. She is very well adapted to take charge of a school, in which capacity she would not be obliged to part with her two youngest children. Her eldest daughter has received a good education, and would be of great service to her mother. She is at present at Colonel Mackenzie's at Glenfield."

The measure of 1833.—My Despatch.

This was the act of council, 4 Wm. IV, No. 12, which was transmitted by Governor Bourke with his despatch, dated 12th September, 1833 (see page 213 et seq.).
